

How do we feel about God when things get tough?

(e.g. do we blame God?

Or think He is not there? ...)

Can we keep hold of truths about God even when things have gone wrong?

How do we 'keep hold' even when things are really bad?

Where does our sense of justice align with God's desire for justice?

Key Question - UP

Key Question - IN

Key Question - OUT